Brain Lab is a Certified Green Auditor through D.C. based Strategic Sustainability Consulting.

As a sustainability and branding consultancy we help clients implement a clear concise brand both internally and externally. Our clients are companies seeking solutions to social and environmental challenges that will deliver long term value.

Our mission is to help clients build brands through sustainable practices.

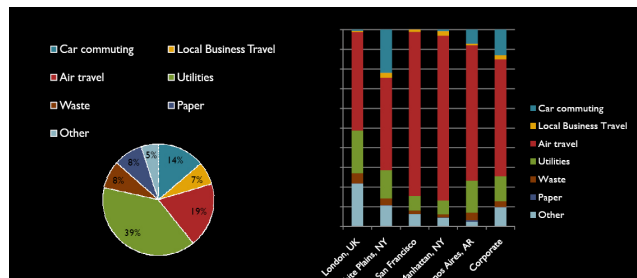

If your organization is thinking about going green but needs a little help, the Brain Lab Facilities Audit might just be the thing you're looking for!

The Green Facilities Audit is a methodology developed by D.C. based SSC specifically designed for organizations that have made the commitment to going green but who need help in taking practical steps toward that goal. Each audit includes the following:

- Employee survey
- Office/building survey
- Carbon footprint analysis
- Onsite visit by auditor
- Final green audit report

Our auditor will take you through the process of collecting and analyzing data, understanding employee awareness around green issues, and creating a green action plan based on your carbon footprint results. Plus we'll benchmark your results against your peers, so you understand how you compare to other organizations that are going green.
